On The Mandates

(French Wireless through Reuters)
Geneva, Sept. 8.—The comprehensive discussion on general policy by the Assembly of the League of Nations, arising out of consideration of the report on the activities of the Council and Secretariat, began on Thursday morning.

The debate was opened by M. Branting (Sweden) who launched some criticisms against the work accomplished by the League. He was replied to by Lord Robert Cecil (South Africa), who, on the other hand, dwelt on the enormous task which the Council had accomplished, particularly in regard to the repatriation of prisoners of war.

He declared that the prestige of the League would depend on the solution it offered on the Upper-Silesian question. He emphasised also the need for the reduction of armaments, and expressed regret at the delays in dealing with the mandates, which he attributed to the attitude taken up by the United States.

The Persian Prince Dowlen urged that the different countries should be represented by members of Parliaments rather than by diplomats.

The four members of the Council who are charged with preparing a report on the Upper-Silesian question are at present each engaged in drawing up a preliminary individual report. These reports will eventually be amalgamated into the report which will be presented to the Council in plenary session and will constitute a fresh study of the whole problem.

FACES BIG PROBLEMS

(Reuters Service)
Geneva, September 8.—The Ammendments Commission of the League of Nations has rejected the Argentine amendment for the immediate admission of all sovereign States.

The Assembly of the League today discussed the Secretariat's report on the work of the Council. Lord Robert Cecil defended the Council's work against M. Branting's criticisms. Although he criticised the secrecy of some of its deliberations and regretted the delay in settling its mandates, Lord Robert declared that this delay was not the fault of the Council but of the United States.

Besides the Upper Silesian problem, on which a committee is working secretly, the Assembly of the League is confronted with three territorial quarrels among its members: viz. (1) the disagreement between the Poles and Lithuanians as regards the possession of Vilna; (2) the quarrel among Albania, Greece and Serbia as regards the southern Albanian frontier; and (3) Bolivia's application for the revision of her 1904 treaty with Chile.

The Armaments and Blockade Commission has agreed to the proposal of Lord Robert Cecil for the utmost publicity being given to the meetings of the Commission.

M. Viviani in the course of a statement on the Commission's work, said the enquiries made regarding the possibility of limiting national expenditure on armaments had proved inconclusive. Most of the countries interrogated had insisted on the uncertainty of the political situation as their reason for not accepting the idea.

Annie Besant Asks Home Rule for India

ANNIE Besant, who is widely known as a Theosophist and a participant of the movement for home rule for India, declares that she is confident that India's aspirations will be realised before long, as the agreement among the extremists that they would suppress all violence was having the effect of conciliating the Government.

HARBIN STIRRED BY CLASH OVER CONSULAR POST

Brother Has Brother Jailed
And Italian Residents Are Taking Action

According to reports that were received in Shanghai yesterday from Harbin, the Italian colony and, in fact, the entire population of the Manchurian city have been stirred to the highest pitch of popular excitement through the arrest of Mr. D. Jibello, who for years has been recognised by the Italian community as their consular representative.

Not the least singular element in the situation is the fact that Mr. Jibello's arrest was brought about through a complaint made against him by his own brother, Mr. P. I. Jibello, who came to Harbin some months ago and put forward the claim that he was the lawfully appointed Italian Consul in Harbin.

It is expected that a possible outcome of the case will be that the Mr. Jibello who has been arrested will be taken to the Italian jail at Tientsin and may be removed to Rome for trial.

Mr. P. I. Jibello has been engaged in business at Harbin as a railway supply agent and it is said some time ago relinquished his Italian citizenship and was naturalised as a Russian. Italian residents, however, have generally accepted him as their representative and, in the present controversy they are giving him every support.

The first intimation of trouble came in the form of a notification from Peking announcing that D. Jibello had been named Italian Consul at Harbin by decree of the Foreign Ministry at Rome. Documents and papers followed and in August Mr. D. Jibello arrived himself. His brother, however, refused to relinquish the post and when other means failed, and in the face of a number of threats made against him, Mr. D. Jibello applied to the Chinese authorities and on his complaint his brother was put under arrest.

Increased Funds May Bring Aid To Industrial Bank

Paris, September 8.—The increase of the capital of the Banque de Paris et des Pays Bas from Fr. 150,000,000 to Fr. 200,000,000 has been expected for some time, but there is a probability that participation by this bank in the affairs of the Banque Industrielle de Chine may have something to do with the issue being made at this particular juncture.

SINN FEIN IS ASKED TO CONFERENCE BY CABINET

British Seek To Blend
Irish Aspirations
With Own Idea

HOLD TO CROWN

No Separation Tolerated
But Other Proposals
May Be Discussed

(Reuters Service)
London, Sept. 8.—The Cabinet has invited representatives of Sinn Fein to a conference at Inverness, with a view to ascertaining how the association of Ireland with the British Empire can be reconciled with Irish national aspirations.

The Cabinet in the course of its reply to Mr. de Valera, points out that the principle of "government by consent of the governed," on which Mr. de Valera insisted in his last letter, is the foundation of British constitutional development, but it emphasises that the Cabinet cannot accept as the basis of a practical conference an interpretation of that principle which would commit it to such demands as the setting up of a republic and the repudiation of the Crown.

Were it so applied, the principle of "government by consent of the governed" would undermine the fabric of every democratic state, and drive the civilised world back into tribalism, the latter condition.

ASKS DEFINITE REPLY
The reply mentions that, if Sinn Fein accept the invitation to a conference, it will be open to them to raise the subject of guarantees on any points in which it may be considered that Irish freedom is prejudiced by the proposals already made.

It dwells on the desirability of a conference at which any possible Sinn Fein objection that the proposals offer Ireland less than the liberty described can be explored.

Finally, it expresses the opinion that the correspondence has lasted long enough. It therefore asks for a definite reply, and is accompanied by the suggestion that the conference should be held on the 20th instant.

The Inverness Cabinet conference has broken up. Lord has returned to London. Mr. Fitzalan and General Macgregor have returned to London.

CONTRACTOR IS HELD FOR CRASH AT FRENCH HOTEL

The former Hotel de France, which collapsed Tuesday night while under reconstruction as a new Chinese Silk and Cocoon Exchange, has been ordered razed to the ground by Mr. D. de la Prade, French Consul, who presided over the French Mixed Court yesterday when Pan Yung Koo, contractor, was charged with faulty construction operations.

The contractor was held responsible of endangering the lives of the workmen, as two were seriously injured by the falling beams and masonry. His penalty will be fixed after the completion of a building survey by M. Ledreux, expert in reinforced concrete construction.

The Hotel de France, built 35 years ago, was sold August 1 to Mr. Tsu Lan-tang, who gave the contractor six weeks to make the necessary alterations. The building was of poor construction, the foundations weak, and the walls juttied together without tying. The shores under the new portal were removed before the concrete was set, and the new verandah and old superstructure fell like a house of cards.

M. Ledreux's report will be examined by the French Municipal Council, and the new proprietor instructed to begin demolition immediately the survey is completed.

Armed Robbers Attack Dwelling

Armed robbers forced an entrance in a Chinese dwelling at 950 Ward Road about 10:30 o'clock last night and after terrorising the inmates by firing two shots escaped with jewelry said to be worth $100. Reports to the police were to the effect that five members were in the band, two of them armed with revolvers.

Soviets Bar Out Allied Famine Board In Note Of Bitter Condemnation

Tchicherin's Reply Calls Proposal Monstrous

Objects To Its Signatory As An Enemy

(Reuters Service)

London, Sept. 9.—M. Tchicherin has refused the Inter-Allied Commission's request for permission to send a commission of investigation to the famine districts in Russia.

The note, as reproduced by the Daily Herald, is couched in bitter terms and objects primarily to the personality of M. Nolens, the signatory of the Inter-Allied note, as a bitter and treacherous enemy of the revolution from the beginning, and concluded by stating that the Soviet Government regards the Inter-Allied proposals as a monstrous gesture of mockery at the expense of men dying of hunger.

CUT ALL RED TAPE

(Datta News Agency)
Moscow, Sept. 1.—The Central Famine Relief Committee has been granted the privilege of obtaining automatically any railroad facilities at any time without any red tape for forwarding food supplies to famine districts.

The Co-operative societies of Russia urge that the migrants from famine districts be given assistance first.

Mr. Nansen has made elaborate plans for supplying the famine districts with seeds given by the League of Nations.

PLAGUE IN SIBERIA

Harbin, Sept. 3.—Many cases of "chuma" plague have been registered at Vladivostok. Dr. Meibi, Head of the Medical Department, considers the situation very serious, stating that if the disease is not stamped out before the advent of cold weather, there is grave danger of a renewed outbreak of the epidemic.

The Chamber of Commerce and Industry in Chita is reported to have resolved to impose a famine relief surtax on all certificates and licenses issued by the chamber. The prices of food-stuffs at Chita have declined as a result of the arrival of fresh supplies.

SHANGHAI PAPER TO AID

In the editorial rooms of the local Russian daily Shanghai Life, on September eighth, a meeting was held by the staff, and after a discussion of the famine situation they decided to deduct from their wages a fixed percentage monthly for the sufferers.

Shanghai Life announces that its office will receive contributions from all sources for this purpose. A receipt will be given to each contributor and public acknowledgment will be made in the columns of the newspapers. All money received will be sent immediately to Russia.

JAPAN TO ASK U.S. AND BRITAIN TO BE MEDIATORS

(Special Service to THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, Sept. 9.—The Legations of Great Britain and the United States will be asked by Japan to act as mediators in the negotiations between China and Japan on the Shantung issue, it was reported here today.

Minister Obata has presented to the Minister of Foreign Affairs a memorandum which contains eight clauses for direct negotiation between Japan and China.

China will refuse to negotiate on the Shantung question with Japan prior to the Washington Disarmament Conference. It was freely predicted today.

It is understood that Japan has made no new offers except the renouncing of her claim to succession to special privileges granted to Germany. Japan also will not insist on a Japanese concession in Tsingtao.

JAPAN ASKS CONFERENCE

(Reuters Pacific Service)
Peking, Sept. 8.—The Cabinet is today considering an important note which Mr. Obata handed the Wuchiao yesterday afternoon, watching the early opening of negotiations regarding the restoration of Tsingtao, the withdrawal of the Japanese garrison, the replacement of Japanese police by Chinese, and the institution of joint Sino-Japanese control over the Shantung Railway.

While nothing has been divulged officially, it is understood that the Chinese Government intends to decline the request, particularly as the Note deals only with the principles on which the negotiations are to be based, leaving the details to be worked out by negotiations, which would take a long time, and probably retard a settlement beyond the Pacific Conference.

GREEK ATTACK HALTS; ANGORA NOT YET TAKEN

(Reuters Service)

London, September 9.—The unconfirmed report of the fall of Angora is apparently baseless, the latest information received in London indicating that the Greek attack on the East of the River Sakaria has come to a standstill and that there has been severe fighting the last four days. There are even signs of a Greek withdrawal. The Greek army is about 40 miles south-west of Angora.

ANGORA IS BOMBED

London, Sept. 8.—The report emanating from Smyrna, of the capture of Angora is still without confirmation in the latest Greek communiqué.

Reuters's Athens correspondent, telegraphing on the 5th instant, says the Greek left wing was engaged in sectional fighting, and that aeroplanes had bombed the Angora railway station.

A "Cap And Gown Newsie"

ARMAND T. Gaudreau, University of Maine graduate, created a sensation in Boston when he appeared on the streets selling newspapers and wearing his cap and gown. It was not a college prank, either, for Gaudreau explained that, after failing to secure a position, he had decided to sell newspapers in order to change his fare from doughnuts to steak. Many offers of suitable jobs have now come to the "Cap and Gown Newsie." The photo shows Gaudreau selling papers on Winter Street, Boston.

Fall Hats Are Chromatic 'Dreams' Heavily Trimmed

By Elsie McCormick

The fall styles are in.

Fall styles have had a way of coming in, ever since Eve initiated them after the original fall. Moralists claim that each year they fall a little lower, but even the most rabid of them must admit that this doesn't apply to skirts.

Nobody knows where styles come from. Paris, which is supposed to originate them, claims that she only follows a tendency and that even her most influential houses couldn't put over ribbon trimming on millinery in a season that demanded ostrich tips. Maybe they are telegraphed in thought waves from Venus, which we assume is the fashion center of the solar system.

Anyway, the yearly cargo of fall hats has reached Shanghai. After a survey through the shops, we are carefully saving up thumb tacks, paper clips, can openers and door-knobs with a view to using them as trimming later on. No hat which carries less than a hundredweight of metal is deemed fit this year, whatever that means, and the general tendency toward heavy artillery in headgear suggests a new use for the German guns up in Tsingtao, or some of the dreadnaughts that were scrapped after the armistice.

SCRAMBLE OF COLOR

One most conspicuous feature of this fall's millinery is the colors. Usually autumn hats are as dark as an inside cabin, but this year the designers have stirred in all the color-brotherhood and then added the aurora borealis. There are cerise hats faced with black, tomato red hats blushing like the girl who has just discovered a hole in her stocking, jade green hats lined with henna and orange hats combined with Peking blue. One of the most popular shades of the year is Nell rose. We don't know whether Nell rose through the medium of an aviator, an alarm clock, or an untimely blast of dynamite, but at any rate her rising is represented by a color that is usually worn by fashionable strawberry sundae. Another favorite tint is Hindu brown, often combined with white; and a third favorite is tangerine, the complexion of a debutante orange. Taupe, which is gray that has married into good society, also shows a tendency to go to people's heads.

Girls with retousse noses will find it advisable to stay under cover until the end of the winter season. Practically all the new hats are either turbans or else have brims that stand as upright as the quills of a festive porcupine. Many of the brims are cut into strips reminiscent of the paper frills on the edge of homespun pantry shelves. The autumn mode is enough to cause a sympathy strike, for many women, when they wear the new confections, will need a lot of sympathy. Any girl could look pretty hidden in the depths of a poke bonnet into which nobody could peer unless he was quite well-acquainted, but take the same girl into the glaring sunlight and put a hat on her head that runs due north from her face with no protecting balcony, and you have something else again.

ROUGH STRAW GONE

Duvity is a popular material for current millinery, ably seconded by beaver, velvet, and hatters' plush. Most of the concoctions are as sleek as a well-stroked pussy-cat, the rough straws of the summer having proved too prickly for partners at tea-dances.

The real crescendo in the fall millinery is achieved by the trimmings. They shimmer, shiver and shine; they tinkle, twinkle and tickle; they glow, gleam and glimmer. Anyone taking down wire netting for the summer is advised to cut out enough of it for a hat crown, shining mesh being extremely popular over duvity. In the local shops one sees metal brilliants of all shapes and sizes, ostrich feathers glycerined and gun-metalled, tinsel ribbons of silver or crimson, and small squares of gold cloth set checkerboard fashion on an upturned brim of black velvet.

One turbanlike blue hat is trimmed by a single crystal ornament that dangles in front and suggests a raid on an old-fashioned chandelier. Another, fashioned in brown velvet, has a bronze crown reminiscent of the shining dome of a state capital. A third is composed of alternate folds of henna and brown, held in place by delicate gilded quills. Another achieves a unique trimming in the shape of a light blue Spanish comb. On the whole, the effect of walking in to an up-to-date millinery department is to wonder if you hadn't gotten into the hardware section by mistake.

FEATHERY CASCADE

Most of the feathers are of the stripped, wispy variety, stiffly gun-metalled. Occasionally, however, one sees a fringe of ostrich feathers that cascade over the eyes, or a longer plume that curls affectionately around the neck and which ought to be invaluable practice material in a training-school for snake-charmers. One of the most effective turbans shown by local shops is made of unevenly scissored pieces of brown velvet, marked by eruptions of orange feathers. The same shop also displays plumes showing so many colors that the explanation seems to be a flock of ostriches pursued rapidly through a dye plant. Prices, it might be added, are considerably lower than they were last year.

After all, why is a hat? Cleopatra managed to get along fairly well without eclipsing

TRUCE DECLINED

Invaders Driven Back To
Northeast Of Ichang
With Heavy Losses

(Reuters Pacific Service)

Peking, September 6.—The question whether or not General Wu Pei-fu was responsible for the proposal to hold the Lushan Conference continues to be debated in Chinese circles in Peking and elsewhere.

It appears to have been established that General Chang Shou-teung, Commandant of the 20th Division of Peking troops during the revolution, subsequently Tutung of Suiyuan and lately Adviser to General Wu Pei-fu, sent out the original invitation to the provinces in the name of General Wu Pei-fu.

In view of the intimate relations of Generals Wu and Chang it is reasonable to assume that the invitations were sent out with the approval of General Wu. The latter had been in communication with Hunan and Szechuan as well as with other provinces, and had reason to believe that such a conference would lead to a settlement without recourse to fighting.

After the invitations had been sent out, however, it became apparent that the bellicose attitude of Hunan and Szechuan was part of the Canton scheme to capture Wuchang and from there to dictate terms to the North.

General Wu Pei-fu, therefore, when he ascertained that Szechuan intended to carry out the proposed invasion of Hupeh, had to abandon for the time being the idea of peace through the conference, and disavowed personal responsibility for the invitations.

Such a procedure, as an attempt to save face, is not in accordance with foreign ideas, but General Chang accepted full responsibility, and there is no doubt that perfect agreement between the two Generals existed with regard to the matter.

WU DEFERS PLAN

Thus General Wu no doubt considers that he is free to exercise perfect freedom in dealing with Szechuan, Hunan and Kwangtung, in their warfare against the North, but his friends in Peking refuse to believe that the plan to hold a national conference has been given up.

They assert that General Wu has merely given way to force majeure, and that as soon as an opportunity offers the plan will be revived in some form or another.

TELLS PREMIER WAIT

Peking, September 6.—In an interview with the Premier yesterday, the Premier pointed out that the Hupeh-Hunan situation had improved, and said that he was anxious to take a few days' leave.

The Premier replied that fighting was occurring at Ichang, and urged the Premier to postpone his leave still further, to which Premier Chin finally consented.

The Premier presided at meetings of the Cabinet this morning and this afternoon.

TRUCE IS REFUSED

Ichang, Sept. 8.—The British and Japanese Consuls have visited the Szechueneese Generals, and represented to them that the Northerners are willing to make peace on the same terms as those agreed upon between Generals Wu Pei-fu and Chao Heng-ti. The Szechueneese refused to consider such a proposal, and expressed determination to fight to the bitter end. The Consuls are returning.

MONEY THEIR GOAL

Hankow, Sept. 8.—According to an authentic source, the members of the consular body have returned to Ichang from Kweliu. They state that the Szechueneese have refused a truce, and that their objective is Ichang and Shasi, with a view to obtaining the Salt Gabelle revenue amounting to $3,000,000. The south bank of the river is occupied by Szechueneese, but the Hupeh forces have driven back the Szechueneese

40,000 STARVE NEAR GATE OF RICH SHANGHAI

(China Press Correspondence)
Changchow, Sept. 8.—I returned at one o'clock this morning from a day's trip into the flooded section of the Province lying along the Yangtze river. I had heard reports from there but could hardly believe that they would be as bad as reported but I found them even worse in some ways. It seems that history records that they have a large tide every ten years. Any way they had such in 1901, 1911 and here we have it again. This time worse than ever before. In 1911 they used for relief work some $95,000 which came largely from the Government through the efforts or influence of a man from Kiangsu Province. It is estimated that it will take many times that amount this time.

Of course I did not get to investigate all the section even of this, the Changchow Magistracy, but they have been making investigation under the various organizations of the city here and they estimated the number of people who are actually in need now at 40,000 and as winter approaches this number will be increased.

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

The country is little if any above the water line being protected by large banks along the river and also along the canals which lead out into the country from the river. When the recent typhoon came it drove such a force of water into these canals that the banks gave way in many places and the result is that the rice fields are flooded. The rice crop is practically ruined. The grain had not matured when the floods came.

The water and the sand has destroyed the grain. In some degree it has gone to growing in the fields. Certainly what little percent they may be able to save when the water recedes will be of such poor quality that it will not be at all palatable. As yet the tide still comes and goes in the fields twice each day and will continue to do so till after the middle of the present moon. Till then it will be almost impossible to repair all the breaks in the banks of the canals and river.

At present the people are driven to these banks with what little of their belongings they were able to rescue. Fortunately it was a clear day yesterday and even then it was a pitiable sight to see. When it rains what will happen? Almost without exception men and women were busy trying to rescue remnants of houses, rice or something and not one approach at begging was made. One old man said "what can we do since we cannot close the main gate," referring to the large opening in the bank not far from where we were standing.

The hope is that the water will recede in time to get in a crop of wheat and then they shall hope for harvest next Spring. Should the water continue so that cannot be done they are hopeless. But to keep them till the wheat harvest is no small task.

It is estimated that they must be assisted for seven months. Meantime, $1 will save a life for a month and even at the low estimate of 40,000 to feed, the seven months food will cost $280,000. No small task to raise.

As yet there is no organized relief effort although some four organizations of this city have advanced $10,000 for immediate needs and it is my hope soon to get a united effort in motion under a joint committee. Other sections of Kiangsu more favorably situated must come to the rescue of these starving people who are literally dying at their more prosperous brother's door.

Chinese News Notes

A Harbin message says that 1,000 refugees have arrived there from Urgan and Chialokou.

The Ministry of Communications has wired to Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese Minister to London: "The British journals have passed adverse criticisms on the famine surtax levied by this Ministry. Are forwarding statement of receipts and expenditures for publication."

The flood relief organizations in Shantung, Anhui, Kiangsu, Chekiang and Honan have asked the Ministry of Communications to set apart a portion of the famine surtax for flood relief work. The applicants are referred to the Ministry of Interior on the ground that half of the surtax is used for the construction of the Tsangchow-Shih-tschang and Chetow-Weihsien Railroads and half of the surtax is paid over to the Government Famine Relief Bureau.

Li Chao-chen, the new Civil Governor of Anhui, left for Peking on Sept. 4 and thence to Anking to assume his new post.

A Harbin message states that the Russian community there is planning relief work for the rescue of the famine-stricken people numbering more than 25,000,000.

Mr. Yourin has been instructed to return to Peking to resume negotiations for the commercial treaty between China and the Far Eastern Republic.

The French Minister informed Dr. W. W. Yen that it is planned to first reopen the Peking and Hankow offices of the Banque Industrielle de Chine. Dr. Yen suggests that the matter be taken up with the Chinese Banking Association.

Leipzig Fair Is Failure Owing To Small Orders

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Sept. 8.—According to a German trade journal, the Leipzig Fair which has just closed has not been as successful as usual, and the orders placed are too small to volume to provide work for the 13,000 firms which took part. The foreign sales were only small, and by no means made up for the decline in home orders.

CONDITIONS ARE TERRIBLE

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 7.—An unimpeachable account of the terrible famine conditions in parts of Russia, and the powerlessness of the Soviet to cope with it, is obtained from an intimate letter written to M. Lutovinov, the Soviet representative in Berlin, by his brother in Moscow. The latter, in a graphic story based on the results of official investigations into the whole situation with which he was entrusted along the banks of the Volga, mentions that three months of blazing drought left absolutely nothing in the Samara area, even the locusts perishing from absence of food.

The famine, which is only now at the beginning, incomparably surpasses, he says, the experience of 1891, when the administrative machine was properly functioning, in contrast with the present disorganization. "The ruins of Russia are at present being finally ground into the dust," he exclaims.

The writer then surveys the future prospects of relief in frank but pessimistic terms. He shows that the sole inhabitants of the formerly rich government of Samara are the aged, who remain to die in their corners.

The peasants of Saratov, driven to extremes, are selling their children into slavery, and whole families are entering servitude for a few pounds of flour.

The hungry villagers are migrating to the Orenburg steppes, and their tracks are marked by the bodies of horses and sometimes of humans.

He says that even if 20,000 workmen remain, they will have to satisfy the demands of 6,500,000 Soviet officials, and have to supply the Army. They should be well fed, but there is no flour and no apparent possibility of expecting any.

The writer proceeds to reveal the feelings of demoralization and confusion which have overcome the staunchest comrades, and expresses his opinion that the first consignment of relief corn from abroad will transform the people into the Government's hated and deadly foe.

Referring to the Soviet opposition to allowing foreign charitable organizations to combat the famine, the writer says: "The alternatives are the sacrifice of twenty million starving people to the utopian folly of world revolution and on the bones of dying people to continue to wave the party standard, or to stand with the people and share its burden in order to save millions from starvation."

He declares that he has chosen the latter alternative and believes his brother will do the same.

Upheaval In Cotton Market Has Effect On Local Trade

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Sept. 7.—The cotton market again opened in a wild condition, with prices 180 to 180 points higher. Later it collapsed and the decline reached the 200-point limit. The close was weak.

Reports of a similar condition in the London market were received here by British firms yesterday. The week's upheaval in the cotton world has had its effect locally. Prices have stiffened and the piece goods markets have firmed up but trade has not been stimulated particularly because both buyers and sellers are wary. There has been a rise in prices in raw cotton and cotton piece goods.

Two cotton exchanges suspended during the week and will not do further business until margins are paid.

Writing under date of September 8, Messrs. Noel Murray and Company comment on the situation as follows in their report on the piece goods trade:

Cotton.—A sensational rise has taken place in cotton this week and in Liverpool yesterday the price for Spot Good Middling touched 14.25d., more than double what it was on June 20 last. October cotton is 14.06d. and January 13.77d. Bengals and Egyptians are up to 7.60d. and 19d. respectively.

In New York the highest price reached was 20.10 cents but yesterday the quotations were down to 19.75 cents spot, 19.80 December, 20.12 March and 20.38 cents May. Just what has caused these advances is not quite certain: the new crop is very short, but there was a carry-over of 9,000,000 bales from last year and there appears to be no fear of any shortage of supplies during the ensuing season.

Probably the rise is due to an excited market and prices were rushed up to the limit, which is restricted to 200 points a day, and there is sure to be a great reaction.

In Bombay, prices continue to be pulled and they now stand at F. G. Bengals Rs. 347, Fine Oomras Rs. 465 for September and F. G. Branch Rs. 494 for April-May next.

Home Market.—Most of the markets are still in need of orders to keep their mills and looms going, and it is for this reason that the advance in prices has been gradual in face of the changed position of Raw Cotton; but were there to be a rush of orders at any moment, we should see a very different state of affairs. Notwithstanding, firms have received a new range of increased prices for all classes of goods and Reuter cables that Hornby's 8 1/4 lb. Shirtings are up 1/6 to 18/- and Calvert's 10 lb. goods are 2/6 dearer at 24/-.

Local Market.—More activity has been displayed locally and there has been a strong demand for goods for Korea and the Northern ports. It is unfortunate that a quantity of cargo is tied up en route to the upper Yangtze ports as this also means a locking up of money and the consequent curtailment of the purchasing powers of many dealers and merchants, and were this not the case, there is little doubt but that our market would be even more brisk than it has been.

It seems that fierce fighting is in progress in the neighborhood of Ichang and that town itself has been heavily shelled by troops from Szechuen, who have placed batteries on the hills in its vicinity.

The situation is very involved and as usual the aims and objects of the opposing parties are obscure. The additional fillip given to trade this week is the fact that the Mid-Autumn settlement takes place at the end of the next week and no more auctions will be held until the 20th inst.

There is a good demand for locally made cloth and a great dearth of Japanese goods in the market.

Financial.—There is about a million and a quarter more silver here this week, the figures being Tls. 26,115,000 in sycee and bars and $25,750,000, of which the native banks hold Tls. 8,650,000 and $13,710,000.

Yarn.—We hear of sales of 800 bales of Indian Spinnings out of recent arrivals and a quantity of local yarn has been sold, but so far we have got details of 1,100 bales only; prices are advancing. Also 6,200 bales have been taken by the retailers.

Auctions.—30,411 pieces were sold this week and we are pleased to be able to say that something like life was manifested in the proceedings and there were advances of 2, 3 and 4 mace registered in every class of cloth; in one or two instances a rise of over a tael a piece was procured.

URGA PEACEFUL WITH BUSINESS AT STANDSTILL

(China Press Correspondence)

Kalgan, Sept. 3.—The first foreigner to make the round trip from Urgan since early in the year is back in Kalgan and reports a successful trip. The Reds are in complete control at Urgan which is quite peaceful. A number of Mongols connected with the Urgan regime have been put in prison. There is a great demand for everything but practically nothing to sell and great profits will probably await the first merchants to get goods through.

This applies to traffic both ways as there is a shortage of furs and skins which the Mongols have to offer. It is said that camels can be obtained but of course there is a considerable risk of running into Chinese or Mongol robbers with a few Russian outlaws thrown in to add to the risks.

Local merchants are hopeful that some solution may come of the Urgan problem and the stagnation of local business be relieved.

AUSTRIANS MOVE CAPITOL BEFORE HUNGARY'S FORAY

(Reuter's Service)

Vienna, September 8.—A semi-official statement declares that the Austro-Hungarian situation has taken a serious turn in consequence of Hungarian insurgents capturing Agendorf and threatening Mattersdorf, the temporary seat of the Austrian Government. The latter has now withdrawn to Wiener-Neustadt.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tincture and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphia. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

SIEMSEN WINS THREE TITLE EVENTS IN FIRST NIGHT OF BIG S.I.S.C. SWIMMING GALA

Finishes First in 100-yard Championship, 100-yd. Breast and Quarter Mile

An enthusiastic and crowded house attended the opening of the Shanghai International Swimming Club Annual Swimming Gala and Aquatic Sports held at the Municipal Bath last night. They were rewarded by as fine a program of natural events as has ever been presented before Shanghai followers of the sport.

Siemsen again showed his wonderful swimming ability by capturing the 100-yard Club Championship and the two local titles for the 100-yard breast stroke and the quarter mile. The proceedings were considerably enlivened by the cheerful strains of Prof. D'Angelo's orchestra which gave a pleasing rendition of all the latest popular music during the intervals between the events—a pleasing contrast to the deadly dull waits at the Rowing Club Gala.

The bath, looking like its best early bedecked with flags, bunting and Chinese lanterns illuminated with electric bulbs, and the preparation in every department, reflected the highest credit on Mr. J. H. MacGregor and his fellow committeemen. So many economies have been passed in this paper and elsewhere on Mr. MacGregor that there is little left in our vocabulary to use in describing his skill and successful efforts as a swimming official. But what is left is understood to belong to him.

PROGRAM VARIED

Besides the three major events on the program, namely the 100 yards Club Championship, the 100 yards breast stroke and the quarter mile championships of Shanghai, there were a number of other important events, such as the competition for the S.I.S.C. diving championship (first stage), the heats of the Ladies' Sweepstake Handicap, etc., and many amusing events, such as the tub race, blindfold race and the water polo match. The last-named was rather a poor game from the point of view of water polo, but it was a most interesting spectacle and deserves a place among the amusing interludes.

During the tub race Mr. Gutierrez, the donor of the handsome challenge cup which bears his name and is the trophy for the club diving championship, got into difficulties by his tub capsizing and he could not extricate himself owing to the section: he remained under water for quite a little time, till Mr. F. A. Remedios gallantly jumped in, clothes and all, to his rescue and brought him safely out. This timely aid prevented an unpleasant controversy marring the evening's entertainment.

GOOD CARD TONIGHT

For tonight's gala there are several good items on the card, such as the 100 yards championship of Shanghai, the local championship for the Throwing the Polo Ball competition, team race between the Rowing Club and the home club and also a water polo match between these two organizations. Intending spectators are again recommended to be down at the bath in good time, for the events will start promptly at 7 p.m. It is hoped that Siemsen may clock better time in the 100 yards local championship than he did in the club event last night, 62.35 seconds, though better than Featherstonhaugh's in the Rowing Club championship a fortnight ago is still 2.35 seconds outside the record set up by Fether Siemsen's time in the quarter last night, 6m. 31.4 sec. is 5.55 sec. poorer than Berliet's time seven years ago in 1914 when Rene put up 6m. 25.8 sec. and is only 11.35 sec. better than MacCabe's time on the occasion of his last appearance in the local free style championships in 1917, when he was 37 years of age, but has lots of time before him to clip a lot of his time last night, Brodie swam a good race for second place in the quarter mile, being only about 5 sec. behind the winner.

The diving last night was of a very high standard, and this sport has made great strides within the past few years. The racing throughout was most interesting, close finishes being the order of the evening, especially in the handicap events.

HONG LEAGUERS TO PLAY TODAY: BIG TEAM IDLE

Cy Wilhoit's Men Will Meet Shanghai Cricketer Nine Tomorrow

Shanghai's first baseball team will be idle today for want of a suitable opponent. The day will be given over to Hong Leaguers. The American Trading Company and the Andersen, Meyer hong will meet at the Race Course diamond in the one game of the day.

Tinkham and Nelson will probably form the battery for the A. T. Co. nine, while Maloney and Griffith will work for the A. M. Co. Both of these teams have been out regularly for fast practice, and are expected to put up a good game. There will be a good interest in the playing, however, whatever the quality, for the baseball rivalry between the two companies is keen.

The players of the first team were out yesterday practicing at cricket batting in anticipation of the approaching game of cricket with the Shanghai cricketers. Two members from the Cricket Club and two cricket coolies came over and trundled the red ball over for the baseball batsmen, giving them practice at watching the googlies, and at swinging a bat from the bottom side, as is done in the English game.

Tomorrow's game between the Shanghai Baseball Club and the combined baseball talent from the ranks of local cricketers promises a fine afternoon's entertainment. The cricketers have available, aside from the Ollerdesen boys, Captain Barrett and others quite conversant with the American game, a number of younger members, notably newly arrived Canadians who are expected to build up a team that will make the Americans hustle at their own national game.

Terry and Roemer, it is announced, will be loaned to the Englishmen as a battery. Dennison who was expected to hurl for the cricketers, it now develops, will not be able to play. The visitors however will not lose by the change for Terry is at his best, and equally as effective as the Standard Oil man. It is not known yet who will pitch for Shanghai. Hoag, it is announced, will do the wicket-keeping. Merrill is nursing a sore wrist. Capt. Wilhoit does not want to use him fearing he may throw his arm away for the rest of the season. Cy last night said he himself might twirl. Maloney might fill the job if he is not here after today's Hong League game.

Shanghai is waiting now for a warship to bring a nine in to finish up the season. The New Orleans is out of Vladivostok, and may drive up the river any day. It is hoped to run a series with that cruiser early next week. It is believed that for next week-end games the Huron may be also in port for a short series.

D. E. J. C. MEMBERS AND FRIENDS are reminded of the match commencing 2:30 p.m. this afternoon, against the Balkan Road Tennis Club. Tea provided. Players, please be punctual as the light falls early these days.

PORTUGUESE ASS'N DEFEATS RECS 4-1; TAKE CITY TENNIS CLUB CHAMPIONSHIP TITLE

Columbia Country Club in Third Position; C.S.F., Fourth

With a consistent record of wins by overwhelming scores maintained throughout the seven weeks of play in the City League tournament of the Shanghai Lawn Tennis Association, the Portuguese Sporting Association yesterday won the club championship for Shanghai by defeating the strong pairs of the Shanghai Recreation Club by four matches to one. The Portuguese final total of points was 24, representing 26 matches won out of 30 played. The Recs finished the tourney in second position with 20 points, and the Columbia Country Club by beating the Cricket Club 4 matches to 1, was third with 15 points.

The win of the championship by the Portuguese Club established several tennis records for Shanghai. They beat every opponent by scores of not less than 4 matches to 1, and twice took all five matches of the day's play. Only the Columbia Country Club, the Country Club, the Cercle Sportif, and the Recs scored against them, and these but once each. The Cricket Club and Japanese Club were swamped five matches to none.

PROUD OF WIN OVER RECS

Three of the Portuguese couples, the second, fourth and the fifth went through the tournament undefeated. The three pairs were composed of the same players in every match excepting the final yesterday when Carnavaro went into the second to give a better distribution of strength. The regular players on those pairs, who won every match to which they played are receiving special cups from the Portuguese Sporting Association as an appreciation.

The Portuguese Club established another record yesterday by their defeat of the Recreation club, their first win over the strong S. R. C. players since entering Shanghai tennis. Last year, when the Portuguese Club nosed out in the club championship with a bare margin, the Recs and the C.C.C. had beaten them. The Portuguese concentrated yesterday against the Recs. They were as proud last night of beating them as of winning the championship.

The matches yesterday on the S. R. C. courts which decided first and second places in the final standings was the center of tennis interest in Shanghai yesterday.

club house was crowded on both floors and on the roof, as well as on the side lines with enthusiastic supporters of either club.

Wade and Ollerdesen had an easy time in the first match with the Portuguese champion, Carnavaro removed to the second pair. The two Leftas played well, but were overwhelmed with the strength of the Recs premier couple. The matches between the second and third pairs furnished the keener tennis. The Portuguese Nos. 4 and 5 won in two straight matches, though Quayle and White forced their second set up to 7-9 before losing the match.

Yesterday's scores follow:

C.S.F. 4, JAPANESE 1

MARCH OF EVENTS

BY BRUCE HOPPER

EUROPEAN powers, awake to the new epoch in diplomacy even though they do not always follow its precepts, hold the Washington conference to be of such import that they are sending their Premiers as the only possible delegates with adequate responsibility.

Japan, still in the grip of her militarists, seems to have abandoned the idea of clothing Premier Hara with that power, and the favor in the choice of chief delegate has swung to Admiral Kato, the arch-militarist, the opponent of broader franchise for the Japanese people, and the promoter of the eight and eight naval program.

Choice of delegates, of course, rests with the nations represented. By that reasoning Britain, if she entertained doubts of the success of the conference, could send Earl Beatty, whose views of the Battle of Jutland would perhaps be interesting to the exponents of disarmament. France could find her spokesman in the militant Marshal Foch, and America herself has a few fighting admirals who know their profession is at stake in the conference. That talk would be highly instructive at such a gathering, but it is feared, the subjects would be limited to the comparative value of airplanes over battleships and other technical problems.

THE obvious point in Japan's favor of Admiral Kato is that she wants the major, and perhaps the only, subject to be disarmament. A resume of diplomatic statements made in the past few months would show that the general opinion is that policies must precede, and even dictate, the discussion of disarmament. That Japan realizes this is shown by her eleven hour frenzy to clean the slate, and put her house in order.

Repeated dispatches from Tokyo, relayed from New York and London, have it that the Yap question is already settled, with America finally pacified with a still small voice in the matter of Pacific cables. Negotiations are racing along merrily at the Dairen conference between Japan and the Soviets. It seems that Japan is actually again promising to evacuate Siberia. China has been handed another note by Minister Ohta suggesting evacuation of Tsingtao by the Japanese garrison, exchange of Japanese police in Shantung for Chinese, and a joint control of the Shantung railway.

Thus when the Washington conference opens Japan will point to her lovely domestic situation, all the servants happy and satisfied, and the whole Far Eastern story of Japan's aggression will be characterized as a myth.

WITH such a bright outlook why shouldn't Japan send her champion Admiral Kato? He alone knows the insides of the big guns. The Washington conference will dwindle into a parlor chat of naval experts who love their ships too well to advocate much relegation to the scrap heap.

Unfortunately the leaders of the American government do not accept the Japanese whitewash over the ugly spots on the Far Eastern canvas as real or lasting pigment. The outlines of shame show through the veneer. The questions will be discussed in detail, not as a frame up against Japan, which Marquis Okuma calls the conference, but in a sincere attempt to arrive at policies which will make disarmament possible.

If Admiral Kato leads the Japanese delegation his presence at the conference will be an insult to the spirit of nations who are earnestly seeking to lessen the dangers of future wars. He will represent not the Japanese nation but the Elder Statesmen, of which Prince Yamagata, enemy of disarmament, and Marquis Okuma, author of the infamous Twenty-One Demands, and violator of the promise to release Shantung, are the two articulate members.

Prepare In Light For Good Night Without Dreams

(PSYCHOANALYSIS, SLEEP AND DREAMS. By Andre Tridon. Alfred A. Knopf.)

It is Tridon's contention that man can train his sleeping hours as he does his waking hours. Since psychoanalysis sets forth that our subconscious mind seeks to solve our daily problems in dream pictures, Tridon aims to teach the layman to profit by his dreams and eliminate sleeplessness and nightmares. This can be done by analyzing the dream and taking methods of correction during waking hours.

Sleep is described by Tridon as monotony transforming itself into safety. Since safety does not require the muscular tension that precaution against danger requires, the blood flows only at a speed which the body needs in order to cope with possible emergencies, and we "let go." No longer paying attention to our environment, Tridon writes, we sleep. With great lucidity, sleep, sleeplessness, sleep walking, nightmares and sleeping sickness are described and analyzed.

Of sleeping sickness, which has recently attracted wide attention, Tridon writes that it is common among the lowest intellects doing exhausting work. Neurotics suffering from an inferiority complex, according to Tridon, also fall victims to sleeping sickness upon meeting with defeat. While sleep is a normal flight from reality, sleeping sickness is an abnormal flight. The normal man, writes Tridon, sleeps from six to ten hours, while abnormal sleep is usually for a more prolonged period. In relating Napoleon's abnormalities of sleep, he said the "Little Corporal" slept from four to five hours after a day of prodigious effort, and suffered little. After the battle of Aspern, however, Napoleon slept for thirty-six hours at a stretch.

Japanese Baths And Bath Houses

Some Quaint Customs Of Early Days Described

BY AUTOLYCUS
(Japan Advertiser)

There is no doubt that there were baths and bath houses in the early times. It seems probable that the most common baths were steam baths. In the "Ima Monogatari," about 1200 A.D. there is a statement "The priest went into the 'Iaburo'—the wooden bath. This implies a tub of some sort, so we are justified in believing that since the era of the Kamakura Shogunate there have been tub baths in Japan. In the "Buku Nenryo," an events of the year 1614, there is a reference to the "Sue Buro" having been first seen in 1564. The "Sue Buro" the stationary tub found in almost every Japanese home today, in which the water is heated by a fire box built into the tub. From the antiquated appearance of the bath tubs in vogue about 15 or 20 years ago, it is probable that they were more or less exact copies of the original tub of 1564. Besides the "Sue Buro" there is mention of a very interesting "Ni Nai Buro"—"a carried bath"—which was evidently carried about from place to place and stopped before the door of the intending bather who entered the bath in full gaze of the admiring neighborhood. The custom of bathing in the street while carrying on animated conversations with the other members of the family who are awaiting their turn in the soothing waters still prevails in the country districts, and is a never failing source of astonishment to foreigners.

"BLOWING BATHS" OF ISE

The Ise people liked hot baths. Some of the early writers say that was because they were such good "fire blowers." This is a joke, because the Ise people were a turbulent lot, and always ready to fan the flames of any incipient rebellion. In every village in Ise there was a bath, and the bath was known all over Japan as "Ise furo fuki." But the name does not mean that the bath fire was blown up by the Ise people. It really means "The blowing in an Ise bath," and that was an extraordinary custom. In a very entertaining book called the "Jishi Naisho Kagami,"—"Collection of Tales I must laugh at myself because they can't be told to Others"—under the date of 1710 the author tells of having entered a bath house in Dotonbori Osaka. It was in the evening. "After entering the bath room," the author says, "I blew at others and was blown on!" Now that is an interesting custom. The fact is that this was a steam bath and before entering it the bathers would stand in a room somewhat warmer than the outside air, and they would blow on each others bodies and the condensing steam was used to wipe away the dirt! So as late as 1710 this extraordinary bath must have been in use, even in a great city like Osaka. This bath originated in Ise.

TOKIO'S HOT BATHS

The Tokio people took to hot baths like the ducks take to water, and they speedily sprang up all over the city. "Sue buro" and "Ni Nai Buro," were both in favor. With the coming of the Tokugawa Shogunate, 1600 A.D., the bath increased in popularity, because the astute Ieyasu thought them a fine means of affording enjoyment to the populace. His government at once ordered a decrease in the price of public baths, and this measure served to make them more popular. In 1615 the first bath house in Tokio, was built by one Ise Yoichi at Zenigame Bashi (present site of Nippon Ginko). The cost of a bath was fixed at "Eiraku sen one mon," that is about one rin today. But the people were not accustomed to the public bath house, and the bath was very primitive. There was never any air in it, and the steam was too hot. Early pictures depict many patrons standing around in disconsolate attitudes, fearful of entering the tortures of the steam room. But this was soon remedied. In the Kan'ei Era 1624-1643, bath houses were found all over the city, and so keen was the competition that the proprietors formed an association which was called the "Yuya Kabu." The members agreed to a limitation of the number of bath houses in Yedo to the then existing 570, and this limitation and association continued to operate until the Meiji era. About 1820 the value of a bath house in Yedo was anywhere between 300 and 10,000 ryo—$300 to $10,000. Kyoto and Osaka, and other great cities imitated this limitation and association of Tokio, and consequently the business was a very prosperous one everywhere. In Osaka the limitation was one bath house to every eight city blocks.

EARLY BATHING DRESS

In the earliest known pictures of bath houses showing the bathing room the bathers are all represented clothed in decent loin cloths. Kioden, the writer of a book of antiquarian research called the "Kotoshu," about 1800, was of the opinion that these loin cloths were added by the artists who acted somewhat on the principle so manifestly observed in the fig-leaves found in Italian art galleries. But Kioden was mistaken in his supposition. In the olden days, even in the home bath the country people used the loin cloth. There are illustrations in the "Ichi Dai Otoko," printed in 1682, and in the "San Dai Otoko" printed in 1687, which show people entering the "Sento buro" of that period, and all the bathers are wearing loin cloths. The fact that the loin cloth was a usual covering worn by all bathers is shown by a statement in the "Todaimon Yoshiki," which stated "The bathers shall wear loin cloths when entering the bath," and a genre picture of life of the time is given in this passage from the "Gozen Hitori Kyogen" printed in the same year. "Aho hito go sake ni yotte, soshite furo fundoshi toite furo ni hareta."—"and the other bathers laughed at the unblushing drunkard." This particular article of bathing attire was called the "Yanagi" from which the corrupted form "Yumoji" meaning "loin cloth" pure and simple used today.

HOW THE FUDOSHUKI BEGAN

In the earliest days of the public bath, and private bath as well, this wrapping consisted of a complete wrapping for the body. Noblemen who went to the bath were completely wrapped in a piece of soft cloth and in that manner entered the bath tub. This wrapping for the body while taking a bath is described in a book called the "Honcho Shoshi Hyakkaki," published in 1707. The baths and bath houses of the present day are not particularly interesting, any one can go and look at them and delve into their mysteries and peculiarities without any more formality than the payment of six sen to the keeper of the door.

The most charming bath custom I have been able to unearth is the custom observed every spring, even to this day, in the fishing villages on the shores of the Pacific Ocean, the "Soto Ga Hama," the "Outside Shores" as the Japanese call them.

LEGEND OF THE WILD GEESE

These village people tell how the geese which come flying across the seas to winter in the land of the Rising Sun always carry in their bills a small piece of wood. When they are worn out from flying, the long lines of the migrating birds are halted by their leaders and then they settle in the sea for a rest before continuing the flight. This piece of wood is carried to serve them as a rest to float on while they refresh their wearied wings. When the geese reach the outer shores of Japan they no longer need this wooden float, and they drop them just where they folk know that these visiting geese will need these floats again, and they never burn or use them in any way all the cold winter long. In the spring when it is time for the geese to make their way home to the north again, they all flock to the shores where they landed and each goose picking up the float he brought with him, takes to the air and flies home over the seas.

But alas, there are many geese who never live to take the homeward path again, and when all the living geese have gone away there still remains a sad pathetic pile of floats which no geese will ever come to claim again.

The fishing folk are a simple folk all over the world. And their hearts are clean and kind. Here on the "Outside Shores" they gather all the floats no geese have come to take, and carrying them to the nearby temples they prepare a mighty fire beneath a huge kettle filled with water from the temple well. Then while the fire burns the priests entone a mass for the souls of the geese who will never return again, and when the mass is said and the souls are rejoicing in heaven or in hell, all the villagers enter the great kettle and bathe in the water heated by the burning floats. For it is proper and good when masses are said for the souls of the dead that a present should be given to all those who attend the sacred ceremony. And this bath, heated with the little legacy the geese have left behind, is the present the villagers, who so simply and kindly offer prayers, receive for their thoughtful regard for the dead geese souls.

This bath is called the "Gan-buro"—the "bath of the wild geese," and it is said that the custom may still be observed in all its primitive simplicity in many Pacific Coast fishing villages in spring when the geese have finished their northern heira.

Tobacco Growing In Australia

A bulletin issued by the Victorian Department of Agriculture shows that in the State of Victoria the tobacco yield in 1920 was 400,000 lbs. Large returns have been taken from small holdings. At Edl 15 acres yielded $750 or $50 an acre. Five acres at Whitfield returned $226. Thirty acres at Moyhu returned an average of $780 per annum for four years without any manuring. In recent years $80 to $150 an acre has been realized. The tobacco is sold locally and recently Victorian manufacturers have paid from 1s. to 4s. per lb. for leaf. Australia at present produces only about 12 percent of the local demand, so there is plenty of room for expansion.

An official record shows that during the financial year 1919-1920, Australia imported 23,389 lbs. of cigars, and manufactured 567,271 lbs., of which 506,544 lbs. were made by hand, and 60,727 by machines. The duty paid on imported leaf for cigar manufacture amounted to $98,847. There are 1,079 workers engaged in the Australian cigar industry.

TEXACO ENGINE AND MACHINE LUBRICANTS

Increase Power, Reduce Upkeep.

Texaco Engine and Machine Lubricants are a group of specialized oils designed to cover all requirements for this particular phase of lubrication work. Each one is of the high Standard of Excellence associated with Texaco Petroleum Products. Each will efficiently perform the particular service for which intended.

We will be glad to assist you in the selection of oils from this group which will exactly satisfy your particular demands. Describe to us the type of machine you wish to lubricate and the conditions under which it is operating. Or, if you prefer, ask for the free service and advice of one of our Lubrication Engineers.

Texaco Engine and Machine Lubricants are good oils, but they must be used correctly in order to obtain best results. That is the reason for Texaco Service and its facilities for information and instruction which we offer to you. Both of us profit by its use; you get the right oil for your purpose, we are assured that our product is used under proper conditions.
